

From: Mitchell Lifton (060)ml26(a)umail.umd.edu
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/24/02 7:29pm
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

The proposed settlement does nothing to alleviate, cure, or otherwise restrict Microsoft's rapacious, aggressive and continuous attempts--largely successful, alas--to control most areas of commonly used software. It essentially guts the proceedings brought against the most egregious monopoly since Andrew Carnegie et al were thundering through the American economic landscape. I urge the court to reject the settlement.

Sincerely,

Mitchell Lifton
Professor
New Media, Digital Narration
University of Maryland
College Park, MD